QUALIFIED VOTERS.

After Five Years They Must Read and Write English is Gov. Ritch's Idea.

Executive Committee's Report—Congratulations for Wyoming—Matters of State.

The state constitutional convention re-assembled at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and half an hour was consumed in reading and approving the minutes of the previous session. In the minutes was incorporated the president's response to the Wyoming convention, as follows:

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 7 '89.—Melville C. Brown, president constitutional convention, Cheyenne, W. T. The New Mexico constitutional convention extends the hand of fellowship to Wyoming with deepest gratitude for her kindly greeting, and is sanguine that the face upon which Wyoming and New Mexico have entered will be successful, and that their two stars will be none the less brilliant in the American constellation than those which shine in the union's firmament.

FRANK CHAVEZ, President of Convention. Hon. M. S. Otero, of Bernalillo, chairman of the executive committee, reported at length an article for incorporation in the constitution. It provides that the state shall have a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction. All these officers shall have their headquarters at the capital, save the lieutenant governor, who may reside elsewhere in the state. No person shall be eligible for state office who has not been a citizen of the United States for at least ten years, and no state officer can be elected who is not more than 30 years of age, officers to be elected every two years. The report also goes carefully into all the minute machinery necessary for carrying on the state government, the duties of the officers, the management of the legislature, the appointive power, etc., etc.

The report was received, read a second time by title and ordered to be translated and printed.

The following constitutional provision was offered by ex-Gov. R. W. Taylor: After five years from the date of the adoption of this constitution no person eligible as to age and residence to vote for the first time in the state shall at any time, so long as the disability remains, exercise the right of suffrage unless he can read and write the English language.

Referred to the committee on elective franchise.

S. S. Terrill, of Lincoln, moved that the committee of five be named by the chair whose duty it shall be to draft a plan for carrying out the special election for the state constitution after the same shall have been framed. Laid over one day under the rule.

The convention then went into committee of the whole and resumed discussion of the report by the committee on elective franchise.

ARMY DESERTIONS.

The War Department Considering Plans for Better Treatment of Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—The subject of desertion from the army will be treated at length in the forthcoming report of the secretary of war. It is one that has had Sec. Proctor's earnest consideration from the beginning as well as that of the adjutant general's staff.

Various changes in camp and barrack life with a view to increasing the soldier's comfort and interest in his command have been instituted, notably the consolidated mess and canteen systems. These have worked well wherever tried and the result has been that the percentage of desertions has been decreased since 1883.

Of desertions, 95 per cent occur among those serving their first and second year of enlistment.

Acting Adj. Gen. McKeever and other officers of the staff have at Sec. Proctor's request submitted a memorandum on the subject of desertions.

Acting Adj. Gen. McKeever says that in his opinion the chief causes of desertions are disappointment at the realities of military life, the employment of a soldier on laborious work without extra pay, inequality of punishments as inflicted by courts martial, bad company administration, tyrannical conduct sometimes toward enlisted men by officers and more especially 1st sergeants, and, above all, too often unnecessary restraints imposed on soldiers.

He also believes the largest number of deserters are American born.

REMEDIAL MEASURES.

The following remedial measures are suggested: A limit to the term of service in first enlistment to three years; re-enlistment to five years; grant discharges according to the length of service; discharge men found to be incorrigibly bad without character, and thus bar their re-entry into the service; secure a graded code of punishment for the guidance of courts martial; secure better class of non-commissioned officers, and especially 1st sergeants, by increasing their pay; make the punishment of deserters more certain than at present by increasing the reward.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE.

The Victims Number 160 Persons—Graphic Account of the Antwerp Disaster.

ANTWERP, Sept. 7.—The fire is still raging, all the efforts of the firemen, assisted by the military and populace, to quell it having so far proved unavailing. The docks and shipping are untouched by the flames, as the direction of the wind has been toward the town continuously. A special inquiry has been ordered.

Antwerp, Sept. 9.—It is now estimated that the number of deaths by Saturday's disaster will exceed 100. Two hundred and fifty persons were seriously and 300 slightly injured. The firemen and troops worked through the entire night on hourly shifts. Many succumbed to the heat and smoke and were conveyed to hospitals on stretchers. All the workers have blackened faces and others evidence the effect of the sickening effect of the dense smoke which clogged their efforts. The work is now entirely confined to keeping the fire from spreading beyond the sheds and factories within the dry dock. The wind continues favorable.

Six million litres of petroleum was in flames. The oil continues to burn.

At the moment of the explosion many workmen jumped into the river Scheldt and were drowned. A number of sailors and customs officers were killed on board the ships by flying bullets, and the ships were riddled by missiles. It is estimated that 2,000 tons of cartridges exploded. The noise was heard for thirty miles. The smoke which filled the air was greater than that of a great battle.

Human heads and other parts have been found half a mile away. One hundred and thirty whole corpses lie in the morgues, besides charred heaps of human remains representing an unknown number of dead.

The populace watched the flames all night. The noise of exploding barrels of oil and falling ruins exactly resembled the sounds of a battle. Those who have been deprived of their homes by the fire encamped upon the river bank.

Of the water works, which cost £50,000, three-fourths were destroyed. The minister of the interior has visited the scene of the explosions. The king and queen have telegraphed expressing sympathy with the sufferers. Subscriptions have been opened for the relief of those rendered destitute by the disaster.

The Best Advertising.

The most efficient advertising in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that which comes from the medicine itself. That is, those who use it, speak to their friends, suffering similarly, who in turn derive benefit and urge others to try this successful medicine. Thus the circle of its popularity is rapidly widening from this cause alone, and more and more are becoming enthusiastic in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla as it actually demonstrates its absolute merit. All that is asked for Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it be given a fair trial. If you need a good blood purifier, or building up medicine, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

After Sioux Boomers.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 9.—A Pioneer-Press special says: Orders have been received here from the secretary of the interior by the Indian agents and police across the river to watch for all intruders and arrest any who attempt to enter upon the Sioux reservation lands. A portion of the garrison from Fort Sully has been stationed here with strict orders to head off all boomers and intruders.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN.

A son was born to Col. and Mrs. Frost to-day. The mother and babe are doing nicely.

The Philharmonic orchestra is rehearsing an attractive program for a public concert at an early day.

The Santa Fe officials are preparing a new time card, which is expected to go into effect at an early date.

Hon. B. Seligman elsewhere to-day invites bids for the erection of a handsome residence on upper Palace avenue.

The territorial board of pharmacy holds its second meeting at Las Vegas to-morrow. Chairman Creamer leaves for the Meadows to-night.

J. H. Keer, a graduate of the Copenhagen, Denmark, Pharmaceutical academy, and a young man highly recommended by the great firm of Myer Bros., St. Louis, arrived to-day and took a position in C. M. Creamer's drug house.

John M. Griffith and not Johnny Griffith, whom Santa Feans know, was the name of the man killed at Flagstaff on August 31. Mr. Hamble, brother in law of Griffith, to-day received a note from the postmaster at Flagstaff bringing this intelligence. Johnny Griffith's friends and relatives here are glad to learn that he was not the victim of that gambling hall shooting scrape.

Billy Burton to-day wired his temporary manager, Mr. Crampton, to lease the vacant room north of his restaurant corner, which was done in short order. Burton is going to spread out again. Starting in with one small room he has gradually enlarged his business till now six rooms are too small for him, and the seventh, which faces the plaza will be converted into a dining department for the exclusive use of family parties.

Manager John King, of the Lincoln-Lucky Mining company, is up from Pedro on business to-day. He says the Lincoln-Lucky continues to make regular shipments of twenty tons per day of high grade carbonates, the ore going mostly to the Pueblo smelters. There is still a clamor for these free fluxing ores, and a car load has been shipped recently to Denver and another to Kansas City with a view to ascertaining what those markets will pay for such desirable ores.

Frederick Ceshlick, the handsome and popular little German citizen who manages Cartwright & Griswold's bakery department, was yesterday joined in wedlock with his life long sweetheart, Miss Wilhelmine Ceshlick, who made the trip over the ocean blue alone in order to be on time. The ceremony took place at Robt. Herwig's residence, and was performed by Rev. Wm. Rosenstengel, of the Lutheran church. A grand feast was served in honor of the event. While the names are similar these parties are not akin. Every joy to you and yours Mr. Ceshlick.

P. H. Leese, of Espanola, came down to-day and brought 150 fine watermelons which he disposed of at good prices. His visit is chiefly for the purpose of ascertaining if the county will repair the wagon bridge over the Rio Grande at Espanola. It is a matter of urgent need that such repairs should be had, and it is hoped the county authorities will meet the citizens up there in any suggestion they may propose. Mr. Leese is a pioneer settler in the San Luis valley, and has lately bought a farm near Espanola. He is supplying garden truck to all the towns along the D. & R. G. south of Alamosa, and his success at Espanola has induced several American farmers to buy homes near there.

DARE DEVIL BRODIE.

He Makes a Successful Dash through Niagara and is Ready for a Dime Museum.

CHICAGO, Ont., Sept. 9.—Steve Brodie went over the Horse-Shoe fall Saturday in a rubber suit. He was picked up below the falls in an unconscious condition and taken to Clifton, where he recovered consciousness not long afterward, and an examination showed that he was not seriously injured.

Brodie went to a point about 200 yards above the falls and stripped. He had his body padded with cotton batting, then put on a rubber suit, which was inflated fifty-two inches round the waist and seventy-five inches round the chest. The head gear was also inflated, while two steel bands protected his body. He carried a small paddle and entered the water. In a second he caught the current, waved the paddle, and a few seconds later was shot over the center of the Horse-Shoe falls, and luckily was shot with lightning rapidity over the outside of one of the falling volumes of water, and was quickly lost in the mist and foam.

He was buried from view nearly two minutes, when he appeared on the surface and was carried toward the American shore, then suddenly hurried toward the Canadian side, where his friend John Ledger had ropes ready to draw him from the water. Ledger was stripped, and swam out 230 feet with a rope fastened to his waist, while W. E. Harding held the other end on the shore. Ledger after several attempts reached Brodie, fastened the rope to an iron band around his waist, then swam ashore and assisted in pulling the daring swimmer ashore.

On Brodie being lifted upon the rocky shore he was quickly stripped, brandy was poured in small quantities on his temples, while he was rubbed and chafed, but he was insensible and almost covered from the nose and ears, probably from the shock or concussion. For twenty minutes Brodie lay, until ammonia was applied to his nostrils, and he began to shiver and gesticulate with his hands. He gradually recovered consciousness, and then found his injuries not serious.

In describing his experience Brodie says that after he entered the river he weakened and would have given anything in the world if he could have reached the shore. He attempted to get ashore by using his paddles, when the swift current swept him back and turned his feet toward the brink of the cataract. When he saw that it was impossible to get out he felt the same as a man that was to meet his death. Just as he came to the brink of the falls he became unconscious through fright, and remained so until he struck the water, creating foam at the base of the falls, when he was temporarily brought to by the force with which he struck the water. Then he again lost consciousness and knew no more until he found himself lying in his rubber suit at the water's edge.

Chief McDowell, of the Ontario police, arrested Brodie at the Grand Trunk station as he was about to take the train for New York. He is charged with attempting suicide by going over the falls.

Army Orders.

Major W. J. Volkmar, assistant adjutant general, has been designated to perform also the duties of signal officer of this department. The greatest possible attention is being given to the signal system at this time, and four men at each post are to be made proficient at using the signals. A recent order says: The American Morse telegraph code having been adopted for visual signaling, the department commander invites attention of all commanding officers of posts where there are telegraph instruments and officers, to the military usefulness of the electric telegraph. Officers and men who have become proficient in the visual signal code will therefore be encouraged to avail themselves of whatever facilities can be found at their posts for learning electric telegraphy to their knowledge of signaling.

ARE YOU LOOKING

For a place you can call home? You are tired, perhaps, of "quarter-section farming," even though broad acres of the fairest portions of Uncle Sam's domain yet tempt you to change your base of operations further west. Ten, twenty, thirty or forty acres of Rio Grande valley land will furnish you an ample and varied arena for the display of muscular ability, while common sense, taste and a modest capital will in three or four years produce results eminently satisfactory to a man who, to a laudable desire for a reasonable pecuniary return for his labor, carries with it a purpose that the balance of his days shall, with his family, be spent amid pleasant and healthful surroundings. With these remarks, point me to

The Mesilla Valley?

He must be blind indeed who can not see that it is a most favored section. Seekers after health, profit and pleasure, after a thorough search from the lakes to the Pacific coast are finding their El Dorado in New Mexico; and to these new comers, as well as to everybody else, the extends a cordial greeting, and invites a careful and thorough inspection of its FINE COLONY LANDS. Some 2,000 acres of which are subdivided and platted into ten and twenty acre blocks (from which incomes can be produced equally as great, if not greater, than the average farms of eighty and 160 acres in the western and northwestern states), and all within a radius of one and one-half miles of the railroad depots at

LAS CRUCES AND MESILLA PARK

Some of these blocks are cultivated, or have bearing orchards and vineyards; others not. Some have tasteful and modern cottages upon them; in others Nature has undisputed dominion. It's merely a question of choice—and money—although the latter does not cut such a figure as one might suppose in these days of booms; and our "long term payment and low interest" plan often adds a little spice to a transaction to one who has an eye to the future. Warranty deeds given. Write or call for plats and circulars. Command us for carriages or other courtesies within our power to give.
